A Discourse* Dear Friends: In this discourse I shall endeavor to answer the question which so many are asking at the present day. Jesus said to his disciples of old: - I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now. Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth: for he shall not speak from himself; but what things soever he shall hear, these shall he speak: and he shall declare unto you the things that are to come. He shall glorify me: for he shall take of mine, and shall declare it unto you. Does the world need a new revelation from God, or was the last word from our Father in heaven spoken two thousand years ago. Did our Saviour mean what he said when he uttered the words which I have just read in your hearing, and which are attributed to him? If we have the faith in him that we should have, and that some of us profess to have, most certainly we must believe that he meant what he said. If we ever have had a revelation from God, most certainly He has the power and also the willingness to reveal Himself again. If there ever was a time in the history of the world when a revelation was needed, it is now, at the beginning of the twentieth century.
