Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Brief Guide: To Points of Historical Interest in Baltimore City The points of historical interest in Baltimore, at the present day, are, for the most part, grouped within three distinct areas: 1. The tract of land on the west side of Jones Falls, upon which the original Baltimore Town was laid out in 1730 under the act of the Maryland Assembly of August 8, 1729(see map), together with certain outlying districts to the north and west. 2. The tract of land on the east side of Jones Falls, formerly known as Jonestown, the earliest, in point of actual occupancy, of the three settlements later comprised in Baltimore Town, although not legally laid out until 1732. This area, includes Belair Market, from which, since early colonial times, have radiated the great highways (York, Belair, and Harford Roads)leading to Pennsylvania and to the northern counties of Maryland. 3. The neighborhood which includes Paca street, adjacent streets, and the Lexington Street Market. Two main thoroughfares, the Alexandria Road (now Columbia Road) and the Frederick Road, terminated here, as...
